The mark of Christ's sheep is their willingness to hear and obey, just as the sign of those who are not his is their disobedience.

We take the word "hear" to imply obedience to what has been said. People who hear God are known by him.

No one is entirely unknown by God, but to be known in this way is to become his kin. Thus, when Christ says, "I know mine," he means, "I will receive them, and give them permanent mystical kinship with myself."

And by a God-given grace, believers follow in the footsteps of Christ, they obey the commands of Christ, and guided by his words rise through grace to his own dignity, for they are called children of God.

Christ promises his followers as a recompense and reward eternal life. And by eternal life we understand not only length of days but also the passing of those days in peace and joy.
