Readings for next Sunday

Acts 16:9-15

Revelation 21:10, 22-22:5:

John 5:1-9

Thursday May 30th
7:00pm Solemn
Mass

"See, I make all things new," says the One who sat on the throne. The second reading is about a vision of a new earth, a new Jerusalem, in which "there shall be no more death or mourning, crying out or pain, for the former world has passed away."

The new Jerusalem will be made up of people who love one another. People will not watch in this holy city as their brothers and sisters languish in poverty and hunger, nor will they attack each other in various forms of inhumane treatment, torture, and war. The key to this new world will be love: "This is how all will know you for my disciples: your love for one another."

The road to this new Jerusalem will not be an easy one: "We must undergo many trials if we are to enter into the reign of God." We enter the road with faith that the risen Lord will "give us new purpose and bring us to a new life."
